

CODEC ORGANIZATIONAL PROFILE AT A GLANCE UPDATED UPTO June 2017

1. BACKGROUND OF THE ORGANIZATION

In 1970, a cyclone with a huge tidal bore hit the coastal area of today's Bangladesh and destroyed many fishing boats of coastal fisher-folks. DANIDA, the Danish International Development Agency, undertook a project with BFDC to build and distribute 550 improved motorized fishing boats as part of an effort to encourage artisanal fishing, with the purpose to rehabilitate the poor fisher folk and enhance their income and fishing safety. Despite some good technological achievements, the project benefitted non targeted rich fishermen and not the poor. Based on the learning, subsequently the project "Boat Rental Scheme" (BRS) was designed and implemented through a revolving loan fund and hire purchase system with focus on poor fisher-folks. Twenty three boat rental groups were mobilized for distribution of 23 boats on hire purchase system. Community Development Centre (CODEC) revealed in 1985 for efficient social mobilization of the fisher folk community. From the beginning of its development intervention CODEC started its activities only with the fisherfolk communities but over the period CODEC now extended its working area with other disadvantaged coastal communities along with the fisherfolk communities in the coast.

2. Mandate

As a nonprofit organization committed to development, CODEC takes the pride in being the pioneer in representing the coastal and riverine folk in general and fisher-folk in particular. Their woes and wellbeing are in the centre of CODEC's thinking, sources of its aspirations and basis for existence.

3. Vision

CODEC dreams of a coastal and riverine society that earns, enjoys and shares the pride of Bangladesh in becoming a middle-income country by 2021.

4. Mission

CODEC sees its existence for a coastal society, in which people individually or collectively embrace new and differentiated forms of institutions, utilize their resources for safe and sustained livelihood and become rights-demanding citizens in a climate change affected physical, social and economic setting.

5. Values

In its interactions with all stakeholders, particularly the coastal and riverine folk, CODEC promises to practice the following values as a matter of organizational culture:

- Concerns and commitment to promote equity and social justice irrespective of gender, age, religion, culture, disability, social status, minority and ethnic affiliation.
- Honesty, sincerity and integrity of character at all levels of organization are the most vital requirements of all personnel of CODEC.

- Learning from mistakes, learning by doing and learning from experiences are the three guiding principles for organizational learning of CODEC.
- Promotion of men-women relations on equal term and respect for all irrespective of caste, creed and gender is the basis for our operational and programming principle.
- Good governance processes such as participation of all concerns in the decision-making, accountability and transparency are the corner stone of our program operation and management.
- Respect views, opinions, wisdom and criticism for achieving organizational excellence.
- Professionalism, creativity and innovativeness are the key elements of the Human Resource Development.
- CODEC staff members will not solicit or receive directly or indirectly any gift or other favor that may influence impartiality of CODEC function, performance of duty or judgment.
- CODEC personnel will not be involved in marketing and use of products harmful for health and environment.
